

Statutory Sick Pay, Statutory Maternity Pay and Statutory Paternity Pay

Statutory Sick Pay (SSP), Statutory Maternity Pay (SMP) and Statutory Paternity Pay (SPP) are important regulations to understand as they enforce minimum legal requirements on employers. Each operates in a different way.

This factsheet sets out the main principles of the regulations and what an employer needs to consider.

Statutory Sick Pay (SSP)

SSP applies to all employers regardless of size and represents the minimum payments which should be paid by law.

It is possible to opt out of the scheme but only if an employer's occupational sick pay scheme is equal to or more than SSP. There would still be a requirement to keep appropriate records etc.

We have outlined the general principles below but first we need to explain some of the special terms used.

Glossary of Terms

Period of incapacity for work (PIW)

A PIW consists of four or more calendar days of sickness in a row. These do not have to be normal working days.

Linking

Where one PIW starts within eight weeks of the end of a previous PIW the periods can be linked.

Qualifying days (QDs)

These are usually the employee's normal working days unless other days have been agreed.

SSP is paid for each qualifying day once the waiting days have passed.

Waiting days (WDs)

The first three QDs in a PIW are called WDs. SSP is not payable for WDs.

Where PIWs are linked it is only the first three days of the first PIW which are WDs.

Who Qualifies for SSP?

All employees who at the beginning of a PIW or linked PIWs have had average weekly earnings above the Lower Earnings Limit (£84 per week in 2006/07 and £87 in 2007/08).

How Much SSP is Payable?

The weekly rate of SSP for the 2006/07 tax year is £70.05 (2007/08 is £72.55) but it is computed at a daily rate.

The daily rate

The daily rate may vary for different employees. It is calculated by dividing the weekly rate by the number of qualifying days in a week. For example an employee with a five day working week would normally have a daily rate of £14.01 for 2006/07 (£14.51 for 2007/08).

Only QDs qualify for SSP and remember the first three days (WDs) do not qualify.

Maximum SSP

The maximum entitlement is 28 weeks in each period of sickness or linked PIW.

Recovery of SSP

Employers falling within the limits of the percentage threshold scheme can recover some of their SSP.

The general principle is that if in a tax month the SSP due is more than 13% of gross Class 1 national insurance contributions (NIC) the employer is entitled to a refund of the excess.

PAYE and records

SSP is included in gross pay and PAYE operated as normal.

A record of payments for each employee will be needed for the completion of the PAYE end of year forms, where the employer has claimed a recovery of SSP using the percentage threshold scheme.

Statutory Maternity Pay (SMP)

SMP is paid to female employees or former employees who have had or are about to have a baby.

It is paid to women who have been in the same employment throughout their pregnancy and is compulsory where the employee fulfils certain requirements.

The Requirements

SMP is payable provided the employee has:

- started her maternity leave.
- given 28 days notice of her maternity leave (unless with good reason)
- provided medical evidence with a form (MATB1)
- been employed continuously for 26 weeks up to and including her qualifying week
- had average weekly earnings (AWE) above the Lower Earnings Limit in the relevant period.

It is important to note that mothers have a legal entitlement to take up to 26 weeks off around the time of the birth of their baby whether or not they qualify for SMP. This entitlement is increased to 52 weeks for babies which are due on or after 1 April 2007.

Mothers, who were employed by their current employer before they became pregnant, have for some time been entitled to 52 weeks leave. This means that many mothers can choose to take up to one year off in total.

The Amount Payable

SMP is payable for a maximum of 26 weeks for babies due up to 31 March 2007 and for a maximum of 39 weeks for babies due from 1 April 2007 onwards. The date the baby is due, as shown on the MATB1 certificate, determines the maternity pay period entitlement and not the date the baby is born. The rates of SMP are as follows:

- first six weeks at 90% AWE (see below)
- up to a further 20 weeks (33 weeks for babies due from 1 April 2007) at the lower of:
 - 90% of AWE
 - £108.85 per week for 2006/07 (£112.75 per week for 2007/08)

SMP is treated as normal pay.

Average weekly earnings (AWE)

AWE need to be calculated for two purposes:

- to determine if the employee is entitled to SMP (earnings must be above the Lower Earnings Limit)
- to establish the rate of SMP.

The average is calculated by reference to the employee's relevant period. This is based on an eight week period up to the end of the qualifying week. In some instances subsequent pay rises have to be taken into account when calculating SMP. Earnings for this purpose are the same as for Class 1 NIC and include SSP.

Recovery of SMP

92% of SMP paid can be recovered by deduction from the monthly PAYE payments.

Employers may qualify for Small Employers' Relief (SER). SER is 100% of SMP plus 4.5% compensation.

To qualify for SER, the current limits are:

- total gross Class 1 NIC for the employee's qualifying tax year must be less than £45,000
- the employee's qualifying tax year is the last complete tax year that ends before the start of her qualifying week.

Glossary of Terms

Week baby due

The week in which the baby is expected to be born. This starts on a Sunday.

Qualifying week (QW)

The 15th week before the week baby due.

The week baby due and QW are easy to establish from HMRC SMP tables.

Maternity Pay Period (MPP)

The period of up to 26 weeks during which SMP can be paid (39 weeks for babies due from 1 April 2007).

MATB1

Maternity certificate provided by a midwife or doctor. This is available up to 20 weeks before the baby is due. SMP cannot be paid without this.

Statutory Paternity Pay (SPP)

SPP is paid to partners who take time off to care for the baby or support the mother in the first few weeks after the birth.

It is available to:

- a biological father
- a partner/husband or civil partner who is not the baby's biological father
- a mother's female partner in a same sex couple

The partner must have

- given 28 days notice of their paternity leave (unless with good reason)
- provided a declaration of family commitment on form SC3
- been employed continuously for 26 weeks up to and including their qualifying week
- had average weekly earnings above the Lower Earnings Limit in the relevant period.

The Amount Payable

SPP is payable for a maximum of 2 weeks, 1 week or 2 but not 2 single weeks at the following rates:

- the lower of:
 - 90% of AWE
 - £108.85 per week for 2006/07 (£112.75 for 2007/08)

SPP is treated as normal pay.

The calculation of average weekly earnings and the recovery of SPP are subject to the same rules as for SMP.

Adoptive Parents

There are broadly similar statutory obligations that employers must give to parents of adopted children. We will be happy to provide you with further details and assistance on request.

The Future

The government has plans to further extend maternity pay to 52 weeks and to introduce new Additional Paternity leave and pay by the end of this Parliament.

How We Can Help

As the schemes are statutory it is important that rules are adhered to and we will be more than happy to provide you with assistance or any additional information required.
